TO: Oshkosh Corporation GPSC Employees

SUBJECT: Section J- Non-Conformance Reliance Application Module

Thank you for your continued support of Oshkosh Corporation, partnership and compliance to our Supplier Standards Guide. As a supplier of Oshkosh, we want to remind you of the importance of adhering to Section J; Supplier Product Labeling and Packaging Specifications, in our Supplier Standard Guide. You can access the Oshkosh Corporation Supplier Standards Guide at <https://osn.oshkoshcorp.com/ssg.html>. Here you will find our most recent packaging and labeling specifications. Your product should be shipped using the Oshkosh Standard label with specifications for this found on pages 16-19 of Section J. Additionally, you will find specifications for our standard boxes and pallets on pages 11-14.

Our Supplier Standards Guide, as well as our Packaging and Labeling Guide (Section J), have been in place for several years. As part of our continuous improvement efforts, a tool has been developed to audit shipments for Section J Issues and upload non-conformance issues to the new Section J Non-Conformance Reliance Application Module. This tool will allow Oshkosh to directly interface with the supplier through Reliance to obtain a corrective action and resolve the issue.

This letter is being sent to inform you that you will begin seeing non-compliance issues assigned to you as soon as July 26, 2019. Before then, it is crucial you become familiar with how the process works by viewing the attached training documentation. This training will also be stored on the Oshkosh Supplier Network (OSN). The process is very similar to the quality non-conformance process already in Reliance, so much of the supply base is familiar with the basics of the module. If someone at your company needs Reliance access, please reach out to your Oshkosh Purchasing Representative.

We thank you for your support in this very important initiative. And, we look forward to working with you, as our mutual success depends on our collective strength.

Sincerely,
